Irish Liberty Guaranteed.
"Ireland is guaranteed in these liberties which no foreign people can challenge without challenging the empire as a whole, since the dominions hold each and severally by virtue of their British fellowship, standing amongst nations equivalent not merely to their individual strength but to the combined power and influence of all of the nations of the commonwealth. That guarantee, that fellowship, that freedom, the whole empire looks to Ireland to accept."

"To this settlement the British government is prepared to give immediate effect upon the following conditions, which are, in their opinion, vital to the welfare and safety of both Great Britain and Ireland, forming, as they do, the heart of the commonwealth."

"1. The common concern of Great Britain and Ireland in defense of their interests on land and sea shall be mutually recognized. Great Britain lives by sea-borne food, and her communications depend upon freedom of the great sea routes. Ireland lies at Britain's side, across the seaways north and south that link her with her sister nations of the empire, the markets of the world, and the vital sources of her food supply."

Demand Control of Seas.
"Recognizing this fact which nature has imposed and no statesmanship can change, it is essential that the royal navy alone should control the seas around Ireland and Great Britain, and such rights and liberties should be accorded to it by the Irish state as are essential for naval purposes in Irish harbors and on the Irish coast."

"2. In order that the movement toward limitation of armaments which is now making progress in the world should in no way be hampered, it is stipulated that the Irish territorial force shall be held within reasonable limits and conform, in respect to numbers, to military establishments of other parts of these islands."

"3. The position of Ireland is also of great importance for air services, both military and civil. The royal air force will need facilities for all purposes it serves, and Ireland will form an essential link in the development of air routes between the British Isles and the North American continent. It is therefore stipulated that Great Britain shall have all necessary facilities for the development of defense and communications by air."

Hope for Financial Aid.

"4. Great Britain hopes that Ireland will in due course and of its own free will contribute a proportion of her wealth to the regular naval and military air forces of the empire. It is further assumed that voluntary recruitment for these forces will be permitted throughout Ireland, particularly for those famous Irish regiments which have so long and so gallantly served his majesty in all parts of the world."

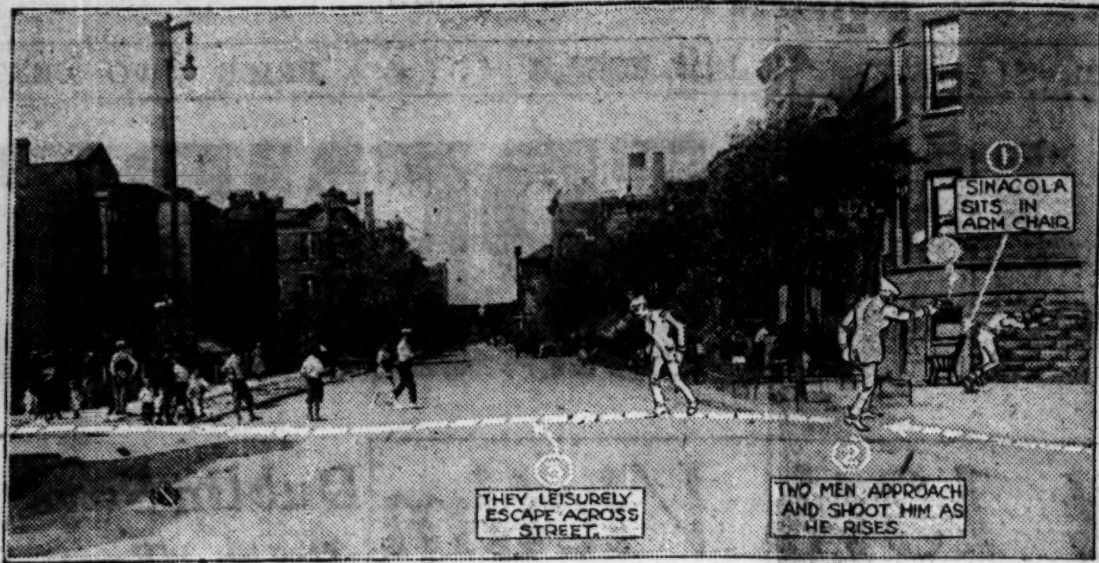

"5. While the Irish people will enjoy complete autonomy in taxation and finance, it is essential to prevent a recurrence of ancient differences between the two islands, and particularly to avert the possibility of ruinous trade wars. With this object in view the British and Irish governments will agree to impose no protective duties or other restrictions upon the flow of transport, trade, or commerce between all parts of these islands."

"6. The Irish people shall agree to assume responsibility for their share of the present debt of the United Kingdom and liability for pensions arising from the great war, the share, in default of agreement between the governments concerned, to be determined by an independent arbitrator appointed from within his majesty's dominions."

Propose to Submit Treaty.

"In accordance with these principles the British government proposes the conditions of the settlement between Great Britain and Ireland be embodied in the form of a treaty to which effect will in due course be given by the British and Irish parliaments. They look to such an instrument to obliterate old conflicts and forthwith to clear the way for a detailed settlement in full accordance with Irish conditions and needs, and thus to establish a new and happier

THE THIRTEENTH IN THE NINETEENTH

Joseph Sinicola was sitting in his arm chair in the sun parlor yesterday, recovering from the effects of a previous gunshot wound inflicted by his political enemies, when two men suddenly attacked him, killed him within a step of his door, and then fled. It was broad day and the streets well populated, yet none remembered having seen the deed.

relation between Irish patriotism and that wider community of aims and interests by which the unity of the whole empire may be freely attained.

"The form in which the settlements are to take effect will depend upon Ireland herself. It must allow for full recognition of the existing powers and privileges of the parliament government of northern Ireland, which cannot be abrogated, except by its own consent. For their part the British government entertains the earnest hope that the necessity for harmonious co-operation amongst Irishmen of all classes and creeds will be recognized throughout Ireland, and they will welcome the day when by these means unity is achieved."

Use of Force Held Futile.

"But no such common action can be secured by force. Union came in Canada by a free consent of the provinces. So in Australia, and so in South Africa. It will come in Ireland by no other way than consent. There can, in fact, be no settlement on terms involving on one side or the other that bitter appeal to bloodshed and violence which all men of good will are longing to terminate."

"The British government will undertake to give effect so far as that depends on them to any terms in this respect on which all Ireland unites. But in no conditions can they consent to any proposals which would kindle civil war in Ireland."

"Such a war would not touch Ireland, for parties would flock from either side, from Great Britain and the empire and elsewhere, with consequences more devastating to the welfare both of Ireland and the empire than has been the case hitherto. Throughout the empire there is a deep desire that the day of violence should pass and that the solution be found consonant with the highest interests of all parts of Ireland which will enable her to cooperate as a willing partner in the British commonwealth."

Problem Up to Irishmen.

"The British government will therefore leave Irishmen themselves to determine by negotiations between them whether the new powers which the pact defines shall be taken over by Ireland as a whole and administered by a single Irish body or taken over separately by southern and northern Ireland with or without the joint authority of harmonious Irish interests, and they will willingly assist in negotiations for such a settlement, if Irishmen should so desire."

"By these proposals the British government sincerely believes they will have shattered the foundations of that ancient hatred and distrust which have disfigured our common history for centuries past. The future of Ireland within the commonwealth is for the Irish people to shape."

"In the foregoing proposals the British government has attempted no more than a broad outline for a settlement. The details they leave for discussion when the Irish people have signified acceptance of the principle of this pact."

Text of De Valera's Reply.

"[SD] Lloyd George's reply from De Valera follows:

"Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, H. C. R.:

"On the occasion of our last interview I gave it as my judgment that the Dal Eireann could not, and that the Irish people would not, accept the proposals of your government as set forth in the draft of July 20 which you had presented to me. Having consulted my colleagues, and with them given these proposals most earnest consideration, I now confirm that judgment."

Joseph Sinicola, the thirteenth murder victim in the Nineteenth ward.

The outline given in the draft is self-contradictory and the principle of the pact is not easy to determine. To the extent that it implies recognition of Ireland's separate nationhood and her right of self-determination we appreciate and accept it."

"But in the stipulations and express conditions concerning matters that are vital, principles strangely are set aside and the claim advanced by your government to interference in our affairs, and to control which we cannot admit."

Will Not Impair Rights.

"Ireland's right to choose for herself the path she should take to realize her own destiny must be accepted as indefeasible. It is a right that has been maintained through centuries of oppression and at a cost of unparalleled sacrifice and untold suffering, and it will not be surrendered. We cannot propose to abrogate or to impair it, nor can Great Britain or any other foreign state or group of states legitimately claim to interfere with its exercise in order to serve their own special interests."

"The Irish people's belief is that national destiny can best be realized in political detachment free from imperialistic entanglements which, they feel, will involve enterprises out of harmony with the national character, prove destructive to their ideals, and be fruitful of only ruinous wars, crushing burdens, social discontent, and general unrest and unhappiness."

"Like the small states of Europe, they are prepared to hazard their independence on the basis of moral right, confident that they threaten no nation or people so they will in turn be free from aggression themselves. This policy they have declared for in public to which any other line of policy deviates from it must be taken as the measure of the extent to which external pressure is operative and violence is being done to the wishes of the majority."

"As for myself and my colleagues, it is our deep conviction that true friendship with England, which military coercion has frustrated for centuries, can be obtained most readily now through amicable but absolute separation. Fear, groundless though we believe it to be, that Irish territory may be used as a base for external pressure upon England's liberties can be met by reasonable guarantees not inconsistent with Irish sovereignty."

"Dominion status for Ireland is by every one who understands the conditions known to be necessary. The free-dom which the British dominions enjoy is not so much the result of legal enactments or treaties as of immense distances which separate them from Great Britain and made interference by her impracticable. Most explicit guarantees, including the dominion's acknowledged right to secede, would be necessary to secure for Ireland an equal degree of freedom. There is no suggestion, however, in the proposals before us that the British dominions are to be treated as a whole into such association would secure for it the allegiance of the present dissenting minority, to meet whose sentiment alone this step would be contemplated."

"Treaties dealing with proposals for free intertrade and mutual limitation of armaments are ready any time to negotiate. Mutual agreement for facilitating air communication as well as railway and other communications, can, we feel certain, also be effected. No obstacle of any kind will be placed by us in the way of that smooth commercial intercourse which is essential to the life of both islands, each of which is the best customer and best market of the other."

People's Decision Final.

"It must be course be understood that all treaties and agreements would have to be submitted for ratification to a national legislature in the first instance, and subsequently to the Irish people as a whole, under circumstances which would make it evident that their decision would be a free decision and every element of military compulsion absent."

"The question of Ireland's liability for her share of the present debt of the United Kingdom we are prepared to leave to be determined by a board of arbitrators, one to be appointed by Ireland, one by Great Britain, and the third to be chosen by agreement, or, in default of such agreement, to be nominated, say, by the President of the United States of America. If the President would consent."

"In regard to the question at issue between the political minority and the great majority of Irish people, that must remain a question for the Irish themselves to settle. We cannot admit the right of the British government to mutilate our country either in its own interest or at the call of any section of our population. We do not contemplate the use of force. If your government stands aside we can effect a complete reconciliation."

Agree Force Is Useless.

"We agree with you that no common action can be secured by force. Our regret is that this wise and true principle which your government prescribes to us for settlement of our focal problem, it seems unwilling to apply consistently to the fundamental problem of relations between our island and yours. The principle we rely on in our case we are ready to apply to the other, but should this principle not yield an immediate settlement we are willing that this question, too, be submitted to external arbitration."

"In our case we are ready to apply to the other, but should this principle not yield an immediate settlement we are willing that this question, too, be submitted to external arbitration."

Seek a Lasting Friendship.

"We reciprocate, with a sincerity to be measured only by the terrible sufferings our people have undergone, the desire you express for mutual, lasting friendship. The sole cause of the ancient feuds which you deplore, has been, as we know and as history proves, the attacks of English rulers upon Irish liberties. These attacks can cease forthwith, and if your government will stop the road to peace and understanding lies open."

[Signed] DAVID DE VALERA.

The premier's reply to De Valera's letter, made August 13, follows:

"Sir: The earlier part of your letter is so much opposed to our fundamental position that we feel bound to leave it in no doubt of our meaning. You state that after consulting your colleagues you confirm your declaration that our proposals are such as Dal Eireann couldn't and Irish people wouldn't accept. You add that the outline given is self-contradictory and that the principle of the pact offered you is not easy to determine. We desire, therefore, to make our position absolutely clear."

"In our opinion nothing is to be gained by prolonging a theoretical discussion of the national status which you may be willing to accept as compared with that of the great self-governing dominions of the British commonwealth, but we must direct your attention to one point upon which you lay some emphasis and upon which the British government can compromise: namely, claim that we should acknowledge the right of Ireland to secede from her allegiance to the king."

Right to Secede Refused.

"No such right can ever be acknowledged by us."

"The geographical propinquity of Ireland to the British Isles is a fundamental fact. The history of the two

FOREIGN NEWS —IN BRIEF—

RIGA.—Woman refugee on crowded train from Volga details families suffering for the Saratoff region. Whole families dying, while roving bandits plunder burning homes. Appeals to soviet vain. Two months of horror on railroad, men being left behind when they hunt food for families.

NARVA.—Gateway to soviet Russia bustling with border trade. Diamonds and beggars prevail, while townsfolk fear coming of armored bolshevik food getting train.

REVAL.—American relief administration resumes its negotiations with Livonia today. Many concessions already granted by the soviet for the relief of the famine regions.

LONDON.—Prime Minister Lloyd George publishes all correspondence between himself and De Valera regarding the negotiations for the independence of Ireland. British ruler's original offers more liberal than suspected.

PARIS.—Supreme council fixes $2 a day for each Yank soldier on Rhine to be paid by Germany. They cost the United States $4 a day to maintain.

Islands for many centuries, however, it reads, is sufficient proof that their destinies are indissolubly linked.

"Ireland has sent members to the British parliament for more than a hundred years. Many thousands of her people during all that time have enlisted freely and of their own volition in the forces of the crown. Great numbers in all the Irish provinces are profoundly attached to the throne. These facts permit one answer, and one only, to the claim that Britain should negotiate with Ireland as a separate and foreign power."

"When you, as the chosen representative of Irish national ideals, came to speak with me I made one condition only, which our proposal has plainly stated, to the effect that Ireland should recognize the force of geographical and historical facts. It is those facts which govern the problem of British and Irish relations. If they did not exist there would be no problem to discuss."

No Foreign Arbitrator.

"I pass, therefore, to the conditions which are imposed by these facts. We set them out clearly in six clauses in the former proposals and need not restate them here, except to say that the British government cannot consent to the reference of any such questions which concern Great Britain and Ireland alone to arbitration by a foreign power."

"We are profoundly glad to have your agreement that northern Ireland cannot be coerced. This point is of great importance because the resolve of our people to resist with their full power any attempt at secession by one part of Ireland carries with it of necessity the equal resolve to resist any effort to coerce another part of Ireland to abandon its allegiance to the crown."

"We gladly give you assurance that we will concur in any settlement which southern and northern Ireland may make for Irish unity within the six conditions already laid down which apply to southern and northern Ireland alike, but we cannot agree to refer the question of your relations with northern Ireland to foreign arbitration.

"The conditions of the proposed settlement do not arise from any desire to force our will upon the people of another race, but from facts which are so vital to Ireland's welfare as to our own. They contain no derogation from Ireland's status as a dominion, from Ireland's British ascendancy over Ireland, and no impairment of Ireland's national ideals."

"Our proposals present to the Irish people an opportunity such as has never dawned in their history before. We have made them in a sincere desire to achieve peace, but beyond that we cannot go. We trust that you will be able to accept them in principle. I shall be ready to discuss their application in detail whenever your acceptance in principle is communicated to me."

[Signed] "D. LLOYD GEORGE."

Ku Klux Klan Opens

Its Ranks to Women

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today by William J. Simmons, imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, to the effect that at the meeting of the imperial Klansville of the organization held last week it was unanimously voted to admit women into Klan membership.

Mr. Simmons asserted women were to be included because they, like men, were the influence men for ideals of good and they have been loyal at all times.

TEARS FLOW AS MADELYNN AND OBENCHAIN MEET

"Hello, Dad," Burch Greeted His Father.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Madelynn Obenchain, held in the county jail on charges of complicity in the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, Los Angeles broker, met her husband, Ralph Obenchain, of Chicago, tonight. At the same time Arthur C. Burch, held on the same charge, met his father, the Rev. William A. Burch of Evanston.

Obenchain and the Rev. Mr. Burch arrived from Chicago on the same train. The former rushed immediately to a waiting automobile and was driven to the jail, where, at first, he was not permitted to see his former wife.

Perseveres and Gets Permit.

The general belief around the sheriff's office was that District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine did not intend to permit Obenchain to visit Madelynn, and he was told it would be necessary to procure permission from Prosecutor Woolwine.

It developed that the district attorney was not in the city. Neither were Chief Deputy District Attorney Doran, Sheriff Traeger, Deputy Sheriff Fox, Nolan, Bright, nor Biscailuz. Mr. Obenchain, however, was not discouraged. He immediately began a search by telephone and finally he reached Deputy District Attorney Koyas at a country club and received the necessary permit.

Madelyn Weeps at Meeting.

The meeting between Obenchain, divorced by his wife, that she might marry Kennedy, the dead man, was pathetic.

Mrs. Obenchain, extremely nervous, wept. Obenchain put his arm around her and talked in low tones until she became calm. Then the two were allowed to go into a nearby anteroom. Their conversation was not overheard.

The Rev. Mr. Burch was accompanied to the jail by Attorney John M. Curran, his son's counsel. Burch was waiting just inside the outer barred door of the jail entrance.

"Hello, father," he greeted with a smile.

"Hello, son," the older man said as they clasped hands. They, like the Obenchains, talked privately for more than an hour.

Seek New Witness.

Officers assigned to the Kennedy case spent today mostly in endeavoring to piece together circumstances of the slaying of Kennedy's movements on the days preceding the murder, are now being made. The woman, whose address is known, is said to have left town to dodge inquiry.

Burch and Madelynn will be arraigned tomorrow. That an attempt will be made to procure their admittance to jail is certain.

PRIVATE SLEUTH SHOT IN TRYING TO FLEE ARREST

J. B. Henry, 27 years old, 411 South Homan avenue, a private detective, was shot and seriously wounded during a chase at Clark and Harrison streets when he attempted to escape from the police in front of the South Clark street station.

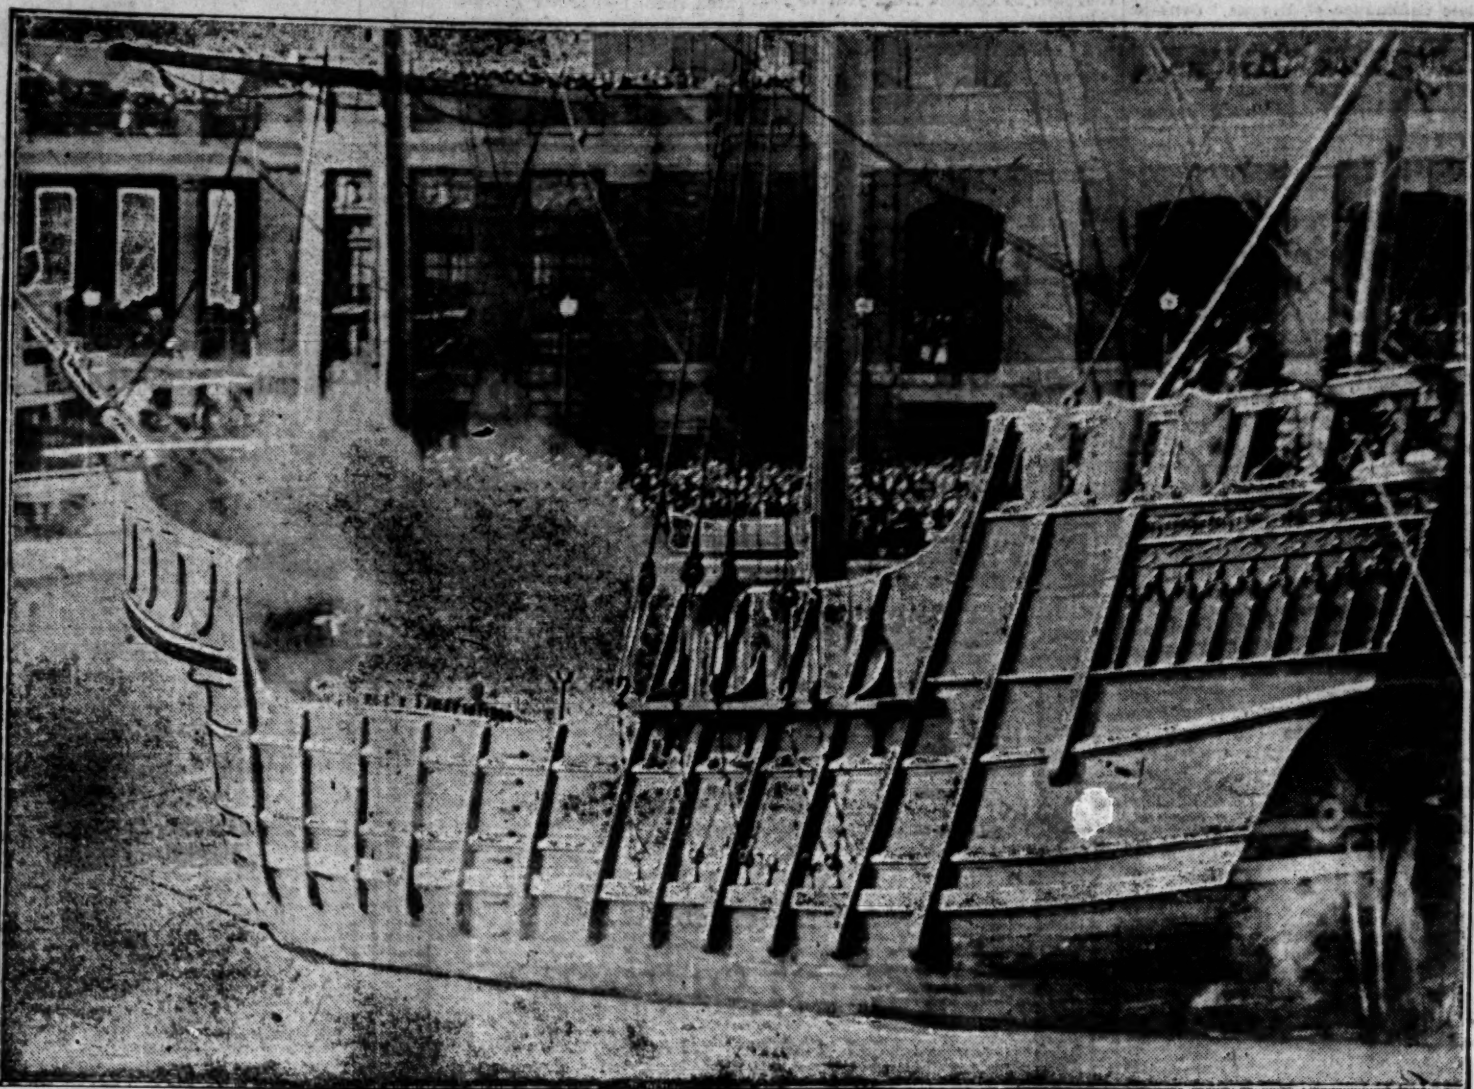

More than fifty policemen who were arriving at the station roll called in the chase.

Henry had been arrested on the complaint of a woman and was being taken into the station when he broke and ran. He was recaptured.

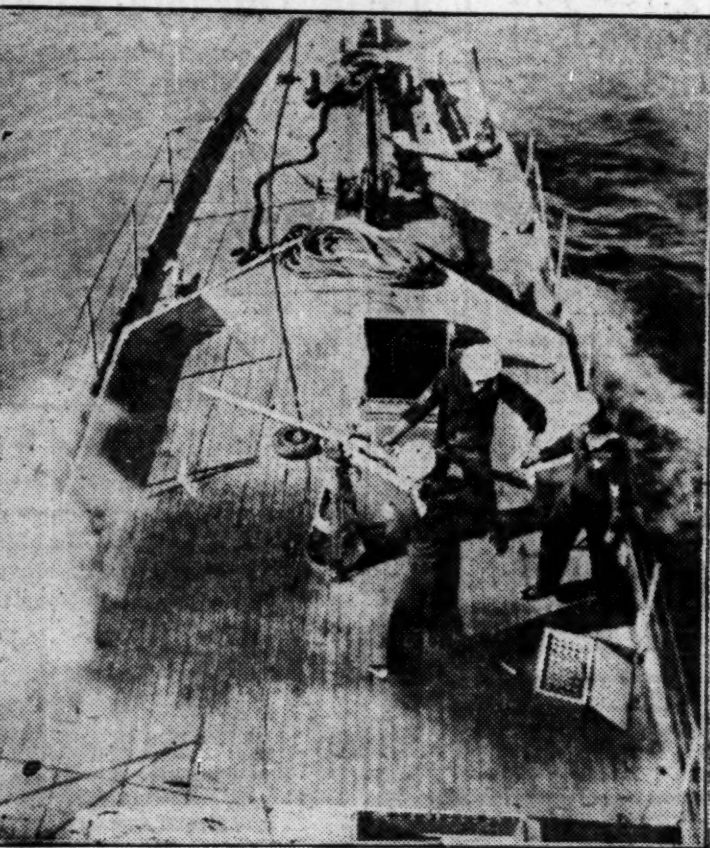

British-Belgians Divide First Payment by Berlin

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The first billion marks paid over by Germany to the allies is to be divided between payment of the costs of the British army of occupation and the payments to Belgium under the latter's priority claim, the allied financial commission has decided. The commission also decided that the value of the Sarre mines is to be reckoned as among the payments received by France before May.

WHAT COLUMBUS WOULD HAVE STEPPED INTO

Theoretically—and luckily, too—the Jackson park replica of the Santa Maria, Columbus' flagship on his voyage of discovery, made an attack on the port of Chicago yesterday. And, theoretically, a United States subchaser repelled the attack. The sailors of the Santa Maria, captured in the period, were almost immediately overwhelmed and the port saved.

Sailors aboard the subchaser yelled with glee at the prospect of reaching back a few centuries for victims for their modern warfare. The chaser sailed circles about the craft and banged away with enough noise, if not bullets, nearly to loosen the seams of the ancient craft.

'COOTIES' FATAL TO DYE PIRATES OF RUSS BORDER

NARVA, Esthonia, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—This is reputed to be the chief center of the vast smuggling operations which go on between Russia and the outer world. So we looked all over town for the headquarters of this business. Nobody knew anything about smuggling until we met a keen German in one of the shops.

"Yes, I've been smuggling, but no more for me," the German said. "I've lost a lot of money, and it is no good."

I hired ten men to carry aniline dye over the border. They were to carry it in the lining of their suits. It meant big money in Moscow.

"I ordered the dyes from Germany in crystals, but instead they sent it powdered. Nevertheless, the men packed it away in their clothes."

"Now, all my ten men had been suffering with 'cooties.' The bites left small openings in their skins, through which the dyes penetrated into their blood. They died of blood poisoning before they got across the border. I lost all my dyes."

YOUTH RESCUED FROM PERILOUS PERCH ON TOWER

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The rescue of a demented youth from a perilous position on the top of the tower of the Williamsburg bridge, 365 feet above the East river, was accomplished at noon today, while vessels on the river and automobilists created a din with their whistles and horns.

John H. Herzog, 19, was discovered on the tower on the New York side of the bridge, waving his arms. Police men started for the tower, running along the narrow, flimsy, swaying platform which painters use.

To get inside the masonry work, in order to reach the ladder leading to the top, it was necessary for the police men to crawl through an embrasure not two feet wide. When they reached the top they found Herzog lying on a coil of rope and in momentary danger of rolling off.

Parson Is Found, Wedding Bells to Ring Wednesday

Newport, R. I., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Julia French Geraghty has at last found a minister who is willing to marry her to Howard T. Williams of Boston, and the wedding, it is understood, will be performed Wednesday.

For several days Mrs. Geraghty has been unable to find a clergyman to perform the ceremony on account of the fact of her divorce from "Handsome" Jack Geraghty, with whom she eloped when he was chauffeur for the French family.

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14.—President Harding has decided upon the American members of the Washington conference, the number of whom, however, and whether or not a woman can be included, depending upon the number of delegates to be agreed upon by the participating nations.

Senator Borah believes Germany, disarmed by the allies and relieved of the burden of armaments, will win the economic supremacy of the world if other great nations continue to tax themselves heavily to keep up great armies and navies for national defense.

The tax bill will be presented to the Republican house caucus tomorrow afternoon and then introduced in the house. Some attacks are expected upon the measure in the caucus, but no radical changes are anticipated in the draft as completed by the Republican members of the ways and means committee.

After having approved the American valuation plan as the basic principle of the new tariff bill, the senate finance committee will begin hearings tomorrow on the rates of duty provided in the measure as passed by the house.

The tax bill will be presented to the Republican house caucus tomorrow afternoon and then introduced in the house. Some attacks are expected upon the measure in the caucus, but no radical changes are anticipated in the draft as completed by the Republican members of the ways and means committee.

After having approved the American valuation plan as the basic principle of the new tariff bill, the senate finance committee will begin hearings tomorrow on the rates of duty provided in the measure as passed by the house.

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14.—President Harding has decided upon the American members of the Washington conference, the number of whom, however, and whether or not a woman can be included, depending upon the number of delegates to be agreed upon by the participating nations.

Senator Borah believes Germany, disarmed by the allies and relieved of the burden of armaments, will win the economic supremacy of the world if other great nations continue to tax themselves heavily to keep up great armies and navies for national defense.

PAGEANT ENDS IN DOUBLED BLAZE OF FIREWORKS

1,000,000 to 2,000,000 Saw Pier Show.

Chicago's first annual Pageant of Progress ended last night with a doubled display of fireworks. The pyrotechnics were the final event of the sixteen days' program at the Municipal pier.

The attendance of the closing day was one of the largest, but the record of the week before, Sunday, Aug. 7, with its estimated crowd of 250,000, remained unbroken.

"Estimates" are all that have been available in connection with attendance throughout the exposition. The management has steadfastly declined to divulge official figures.

Guess 1,000,000 Apart.

"The paid admissions will not total more than 1,000,000," said Mayor William Hale Thompson last night.

"I believe about 2,000,000 would be a good guess," said William J. Kramer, business manager of the Pageant of Progress, without knowledge of what his chief's "guess" had been. "But I am not speaking officially, because I don't know what the figures will show."

In view of day to day estimates that were made, Mr. Kramer's guess was accepted as near the mark.

Manager Kramer said orders taken by exhibitors would run well into the millions.

Kelly to Make Report.

It is expected that D. F. Kelly, pageant treasurer, will make a more definite report both as to attendance and as to the business done by the 2,000 exhibitors this evening when the success of the exposition is to be celebrated at a banquet in the Congress hotel.

The attack of a "pirate ship" was heralded as the chief event yesterday. It was all of that, developing thrills beyond the promise of the program. The Santa Maria, a replica of the boat in which Columbus first crossed the Atlantic, caught on fire, causing some-thing of a panic among the black-hearted outlaws of the sea.

The blaze was in the hold of the ship. Quantities of powder the pirates were reserving for their attack were in the same hold. The possibilities of this combination moved three sailors to leap overboard. They were hauled into a small boat standing by.

Three "Walk the Plank."

The fire was extinguished by a bucket brigade. The attack then proceeded, in accordance with the program, and was accordingly repulsed by two submarine chasers amid a realistic bombardment. Three of the captured crew—expert divers—were made to "walk the plank."

Late in the day a modern caravan—thirty-five families in 100 automobiles—arrived from New York en route to Idaho, where they are to settle on homesteads. They camped at Western avenue and 55th street and visited the pageant in the evening.

President and Wife Make Baltimore Call

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—President Harding and Mrs. Harding, accompanied by Attorney General Daugherty were in Baltimore about an hour this afternoon, having motored from Washington to visit Mrs. Daugherty, who is ill in Johns Hopkins hospital. Mrs. Daugherty has been ill for several months.

FRIENDS BOOST BRENTANO FOR DIPLOMATIC JOB

Swiss Post Sought for Jurist.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Within the last week close friends of Judge Theodore Brentano of the Superior court have begun boosting him for appointment as United States minister to Switzerland.

Their efforts have not yet reached the publicity stage, but they have made inquiries in quarters considered well informed concerning the likelihood of such an appointment, and it has been implied that the judge himself has considered the matter and would welcome selection to the foreign post. Efforts to reach him at his residence yesterday were unsuccessful.

Judge Brentano's present term on the bench expires this fall, as a result of the election of June 6, and his friends urge that, although he is a veteran, he is too valuable a citizen to be retired from public life and that he is the type of man who would be a worthy addition to the diplomatic service.

Spurned Coalition Offer.

Back of the decision for the presentation of his name for consideration for honors abroad is some local political history not so remotely connected with the Small case—the indictment of Gov. Len Small and his effort to avoid appearing in court as a defendant on criminal charges.

In spite of several invitations to join the coalition movement, Judge Brentano last spring chose to cling to the "Republican" label on the ballot, even though, for the time being it was the property of the city hall machine. He emphasized his staunch Republicanism and also, before the campaign warmed up, expressed doubt that anything like a real coalition movement was a possibility.

That his defeat was a necessary incident to the repulse of the machine's raid on the bench brought expressions of regret from many sources. Something of this popular feeling penetrated even the secret depths of the machine, and immediately after the election it became known that as soon as a vacancy on the bench was to be filled by appointment by Gov. Small he would name Judge Brentano.

Recent Events Change Plan.

But since that time political history has been made somewhat rapidly for the slow summer season. Not the least of the events of big significance were the Small indictment and the steps taken by the machine in his defense.

Developments in connection with Small's fight to escape trial have now led Judge Brentano's friends—instead of waiting for his reappointment to the bench and his consequent renomination next year for another six year term on the bench—to urge the desirability of his selection for appointment to the post at Berne.

PRESIDENT MAY NAME DISARM CONFEREES SOON

Will Include Hughes, Root, Lodge, Knox.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—President Harding has made up his mind as to the personnel of the United States commission to participate in the Washington international conference on reduction of armaments, but he cannot close the subject until exchanges with the participating powers have defined some regulation as to the number of representatives each nation will have at the conference table. Speculation as to the probable membership of the American delegation has not changed the list as published in THE TRIBUNE several weeks ago, after the President had told some of his advisers that he had in mind the men he would like to name.

The Tentative Personnel. Secretary of State Hughes already has been designated to head the commission. For his colleagues the President is said to be considering the following:

ELIHU ROOT, former secretary of state.

HENRY CABOT LODGE, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate.

PHILANDER C. KNOX, former secretary of state and Republican member of the senate foreign relations committee.

OSCAR UNDERWOOD of Alabama, Democratic senator and friend of the President.

GEORGE W. SUTHERLAND, former Republican United States senator from Utah and international lawyer.

If more than five Americans are to be named it is possible that the President may appoint a woman on the commission or some member of the house of representatives. That the President will appoint Mr. Root is believed to be certain by those who have discussed the subject with him.

Reasons for Appointments.

Senator Lodge, by virtue of his position as chairman of the foreign relations committee, is obviously entitled to head the representation from the senate.

Senator Knox the President believes to be eminently qualified for membership on the commission, not because he is a senator but because of his familiarity with diplomacy and international relations.

Senator Underwood is being considered as a representative of the minority political party. The President is known to admire Underwood and to have great confidence in his ability.

Former Senator Sutherland is regarded by the President as eminently qualified for the delegation. He was at one time seriously considered for secretary of state.

Urges Woman Be Named.

Whether the President will appoint a woman to the delegation no one knows. The President himself does not know. He would like to, it is believed. Agitation for this by women's organizations continues daily. The National League of Women Voters has asked the President for an opportunity to present a resolution urging the naming of a woman on the commission and women on any advisory committees which may be formed during the conference.

Those appointed on a committee to visit the President are: Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters; Mrs. Richard Edwards, vice president; Mrs. Sumner T. McKnight, treasurer; Mrs. Gifford Pinchot and Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, members of the committee on the reduction of armament of the National League of Women Voters.

had endeavored to give a modern touch to the Pageant of Progress by relieving Howard Eaves, 1039 Algonquin street, of his money. Where-(TRIBUNE Photo.) fore he and his two young companions found themselves in the presence of Lieut. Burke.

"I want to see the main squeeze around here," demanded Leo.

"I'm the main squeeze," said Burke.

"What's wrong?"

"Why, this fish"—indicating Patrolman Connaughton—"takes me in for pinching pocketbooks."

"Did you do it?"

"Well, I tried," declared Leo, "but I didn't get away with it. So I don't think I ought to be pinched."

LESS SMUGGLING OF BEER ACROSS DETROIT RIVER

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 14.—Plans of prohibition enforcement officials for dealing with the smuggling of Canadian beer and whisky across the border here as a result of a recent Windsor court ruling remained unannounced tonight.

Little, if any, beer was brought across the river today, so far as could be observed. It was reported, however, to be obtainable in the down river district at prices ranging from 50 to 75 cents a pint.

Plans for a big week end trade at the down river resorts were affected by the reported presence in the vicinity of state troopers.

GERMANY TO BE TRADE LEADER, BORAH PREDICTS

War Bill Less than U. S. Armament.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—United States Senator William E. Borah believes that Germany, despite her crushing defeat in the world war, may win the economic supremacy of the world unless the other big nations curb their enormous expenditures for armaments.

In a statement prepared for "The Nation's Business," published by the United States chamber of commerce, the Idaho senator declares the threat of Germany's economic dominance is based upon the fact that the burden of armaments has been lifted from the backs of the German people.

Germany, defeated and disarmed, is paying thirty-three billions in reparations for the world war, but the United States, Senator Borah declares, will pay a greater sum for armament at her present rate of expenditures for national defense.

Allies' Mistakes Help Germany.

"Despite her military defeat, Germany, by reason of the short sighted and blundering policies of the allied and associated powers may yet secure economic dominance of Europe," Senator Borah says. "Defeat has resulted in Germany's being deprived of her army and her navy. The burden of armament has been forced from the backs of the German people. They may now devote their energies and their talents to agriculture, to industry, to the arts, to the things which constitute the real wealth and strength of a people. Their genius will find expression not in arms or on the military field but in improved machinery and cooperative industry. Every ounce of effort which they put forth will be along lines which produce something, which add wealth to the community, which make for contentment and prosperity to the people, which insure greater physical prowess and a higher brain power."

Burden of the Entente.

"On the other hand, the allied and associated powers are carrying a vast burden because of their great armies and navies. These burdens are being increased upon a stupendous scale. Hundreds of thousands of their people are to be engaged in lines which produce nothing, add no wealth to the community, make not for health, growth and happiness, but for display, parade and possibly for destruction and death. The German people are compelled to preserve their energies for things which count: The allied and associated powers are burying their people under intolerable taxes, discouraging industry, sterilizing human energy and breeding discontent through their everlasting plans for increased armaments."

"It is true that Germany has a vast debt upon her for reparation. But this debt is no larger—and perhaps not so large—than our own expenditures as they will be created from year to year for armaments."

Vast Expense of France.

"France has an army of 500,000 men. The exact cost for maintaining this great army I do not know, but one can imagine how stupendous it is. The British army and navy combined call for an expenditure much larger than our own. Thus while Germany has her billions of reparation, the allied and associated powers are spending their billions for their armies and navies—we alone expending as much for our army and navy as the entire reparation claims against Germany."

"Disarmament should not be postponed, or subordinated, or made incidental to the settling and adjusting of all international questions. It should be made the controlling, dominating question. It is the most vital problem in the world today."

JAPAN DEMANDS ITS SPECIAL FOOT IN DOOR OF ASIA

TOKIO, Aug. 13.—[By the Associated Press.]—Former Premier Okuma, in an interview published here today, was quoted as saying that if any of the powers should attempt to interfere with the agreements reached at Versailles concerning the island of Yap and Shantung, the Japanese should oppose such interference for the sake of the honor of the empire.

The fact must be recognized, he added, that Siberia is so vitally connected with South Manchuria, where Japan has invested 450,000,000 yen, that Japan's special position in Siberia should be accorded.

Generally speaking, M. Okuma said, Japan's delegates to the forthcoming conference on far eastern questions must insist on the right to existence of the Japanese people and protection for the Asiatic peoples generally in furtherance of the principle of universal equality.

WOMAN REVEALS VAST HORROR OF RUSSIA FAMINE

Fights Death on Volga Refugee Train.

BY DONALD S. DAY.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.)
RIGA, Aug. 14.—From the heart of the famine district, the city of Saratoff on the Volga, a trainload of Latvian refugees crossed the Latvian border yesterday. They were the first unbiased actual witnesses of the famine conditions to arrive on this frontier.

There was not one happy face among the 200 arrivals, despite the fact they were returning to homes they had abandoned when Germany captured this territory in 1918. Women and children far outnumbered men. The reason for this was disclosed by the weeping women, who told of the foodless journey, the long stops, and sudden starts of the train which resulted in half the men being left behind, scattered across Russia from Saratoff to Ryejitsa, Latvia.

Deaths on Train Daily.

Deaths on the train as a result of cholera, malaria, and starvation were a daily occurrence. Many families also were left behind, preferring to stay in Russia and properly there to bury their dead rather than to turn the corpses over to the soviet authorities for huge common graves now dug daily in every Russian graveyard.

Mrs. Walley Feldbach, a native of Riga, who succeeded in bringing an invalid husband, a construction engineer, and two children, William and Alma, 11 and 11, respectively, from Saratoff, told of the horrors undergone by the party in a monotone, her voice laden with misery.

Woman Refugee's Story.

"We lived at Rovno on the Volga about sixty miles from Saratoff," Mrs. Feldbach said. "On May 15 all were notified that on June 2 a refugee train would start from Saratoff carrying us to Latvia. We packed our belongings in a peasant cart and then started up the Volga bank for Saratoff. Even peasants were migrating up the Volga and from all other directions toward the city.

"Bands of bandits were scouring the country, robbing and firing abandoned homes. One could look in any direction across the plains and see pillars of smoke arising from the ruins. The reason the peasants are migrating is that communist bands preceded the bandits, gathering the so-called produce tax, taking the last remaining bushel of grain, including seed.

"As we neared Saratoff the scenes grew more horrible. We saw hundreds of peasant families returning to their ruined homes to die, having appealed in vain to the soviet authorities for food. We passed whole families dead in their homes.

Drown Their Children.

"The soviet government reports the peasants are abandoning their children. This is not true. It is correct that some parents turn over their children to the state, which promises to care for them and does not. Others throw their children into the Volga, preferring to see them drown rather than be brought up in the communist faith, which they believe is an anti-Christ doctrine.

"At Saratoff we awaited a train which did not arrive until a week later. While there bread climbed from 5,000 to 8,000 rubles a pound. A number of us died of cholera. The city averaged 500 cases daily, half of them dying. Many more who were too ill refused to register, fearing they would be brought to the barracks, which was certain death.

"Old garbage carts collected the dead daily, as they used to collect garbage. During our stay we saw many cases of bubonic plague in the streets. This never was mentioned by the soviet press, the officials attempting to keep knowledge of this plague from the public.

(Photo: Underwood & Underwood.)
In the Volga area of Russia millions are reported in danger of starvation the coming winter unless relief is given from sources outside of the former empire of the czars. The picture shows one of the food stations organized by the soviets. This system has been shown to be entirely inadequate, and millions face death unless help arrives from the United States and western Europe.

"Finally we were called to the railroad station. None had extra food, so when the train remained all day at the station the men entered the city, continuing daily to search for bread. Suddenly without signal of any kind the train started, leaving thirty-one men behind, the majority having families. A few caught up with the train at the next station, for the train stopped twelve hours when it did stop. This situation was duplicated time and again.

"In the two weeks between Saratoff and Ryejitsa we were served two meals, both consisting of a plate of fish soup. The trip formerly took four days. Many died on the train. One father refusing to surrender the body of his daughter or to disembark to bury it, was arrested, the train continuing without him. His wife, who also was with us, became insane.

Reds Take Her Thermometer.

"My two children and husband also have malaria. Following the course of the disease with a thermometer one day, a soviet doctor saw me using the instrument and took it away, saying only doctors were permitted to have thermometers in Russia. I entered the Saratoff hospitals many times pleading for medicine, but never saw any. The only way to distinguish a doctor is the rubber gloves he wears to handle the sick.

"The Saratoff Communists are well dressed and well fed, but are becoming panicky, leaving for other districts. The peasants and workers now hate the Communists with a hatred like consuming fire. The Communists never travel alone, fearing capture and death by tortures popular among the peasants.

A Perishable Bread.

"The bread you receive must be eaten immediately as it turns bright green with mould over night. Soviet employes now also are getting a little food. The present ration is a half pound of bread daily. As we neared Latvia, the bread prices gradually came down and near the border the cost is only 2,000 rubles a pound."

When informed that America is negotiating to relieve Russia, Mrs. Feldbach's eyes lighted.

AMERICAN RELIEF RESUMES RUSSIA PARLEYS TODAY

Reds Agree to Many Concessions.

BY AMBROSE LAMBERT.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

RIGA, Aug. 14.—In their negotiations with Walter Lyman Brown, head of the American relief administration in Europe, the agents of the soviets have agreed to provide kitchens to cook the food to be sent to the relief of the Russian famine—though they confess to a shortage which may have to be supplied. The soviets also agree to provide buildings, fuel, residences, and the cost of local administration, priority for free relief telegrams, gasoline and oil for motor transport, frontier rights, including no search, free imports, and exports, and immunity of supplies from requisition.

The interesting point is that the agreement strictly insists on nonimportation of alcohol, save strictly for medical purposes under a doctor's care. The soviets also agree that where an epidemic is raging they must first combat and control the epidemic, and provide adequate protection, water, and supplies before asking that the place be relieved. As to control of distribution, the soviets must see that it goes to the right places and gets into the right hands; the main principle is conceded, but the details are not yet agreed on.

It is upon this point that the soviets place large stress, as they fear certain anti-bolshevik elements will try to use the food distribution for counter revolutionary purposes. In one of their official papers is picturesquely printed: "We do not propose to resurrect lost sons."

There also is a desire to limit the number of personnel of the American relief administration on the ground. The soviets do not want tens of thousands of Americans under the guise of American relief administration workers invading Russia. Mr. Brown is reassuring Litvinoff, chief of the soviet delegation, on this point, as he proposes to work with as near a skeleton personnel as possible. The American relief administration agrees to furnish clothing, medicines, and food for the sick and for children, and absolutely to refrain from all political matters.

NEW CHARGES OF U. S. MISRULE IN SAN DOMINGO

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Charges that American marines sent to San Domingo by this government committed murders, terrorized the people, and burned their homes were presented to the senate committee investigating conditions since the American occupation in 1916 by Horace G. Knowles, adviser and assistant to the Dominican national commission in the United States, in a report made public today.

Declaring there was no justification for sending armed forces to the island and that their presence constituted "an act of war," the report asserted evidence could be submitted to the committee to prove charges of the "policy of suppression, repression, oppression, and maladministration."

Other charges made were that the people were terrorized and their homes burned; that the orders issued and enforced by the military government were unreasonable, cruel, and totally un-American; that "private rights were invaded, and personal and corporate property injured, damaged, or destroyed by the military government or its agents, and great losses incurred because of them and their orders;" and that "the administration of the military government has been incompetent, wasteful, and extravagant."

BUSTLING CITY, GATE TO RUSSIA, CHARY OF REDS

Narva Center of Big Border Traffic.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

NARVA, Esthonia, Aug. 14.—This is the last stop on the Reval-Petrograd railroad before entering soviet territory, and is the landing place of the little group of released Americans who have been "making a lengthy investigation into prison life in soviet Russia," according to their own view of the case, as expressed by Dr. W. R. Estes, who probably is the thinnest and the most humorous of the party.

Narva is a typical old Russian town with squat wooden houses and bumpy cobblestone streets, few sidewalks, and a never ending stream of beggars who pursue strangers in relays, noon and night.

Narva folk had heard the American prisoners were making their town famous by passing through there on their return to the civilized world.

When informed by the city fathers and the women of the Red Cross and American relief committees, they were anxious to help.

Anxious to Help.

When the long soviet freight train pulled into the station from Yamburg, Russia, trailing a big international sleeping car, the little group of Americans waiting were flanked with baskets of food, bottles of wine, and cases of beer.

Narva does not permit the soviet train to pull in alongside the station. Instead there are five tracks, and the soviet train is placed in the middle where it is guarded by Esthonian police, who watch to see that Narva's population is not increased by more beggars, communists, and agitators while the police enter the train to inspect visas. Freight trains arrive from soviet Russia almost daily, but passenger coaches come only twice weekly.

It is difficult to find any one doing the intriguing and smuggling which

GIRLS URGED TO REJECT SUITOR WHO CAN'T LAUGH

BY REV. G. A. MacWHORTER.

"Girls! Don't marry a man who can't laugh." This was the injunction that the Rev. Charles S. Stevens, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, Ashland boulevard and Ogden avenue, placed at the beginning of his discourse on "How to Choose a Life Partner," at last night's service.

"And don't marry any of the following men: Those who do not respect their parents; those who swear; those who are not clean; and never say yes to a 'grouch' or a 'critic' or a man who is lazy," he continued. "Above all, do not marry a man whom you do not love, and never try to reform a man by marrying him—it can't be done."

The ideal man for a girl to marry, as the Rev. Mr. Stevens portrayed him, should be sunny, healthy, clean, reliable, industrious, loyal, and reverent. What about the kind of a girl a young man should ask to marry him? Well, a young man should seek first of all a womanly woman—a natural girl, one who may be attractive but who should be intelligent, for "looks do not last long," Dr. Stevens said.

A large congregation is expected next Sunday evening, for the subject of the Rev. Dr. Stevens' address is announced "How to Cheat the Divorce Court," and all the litigants in suits for divorce in the Chicago courts will be invited to attend.

has been flourishing on the Russian frontier in the Baltic states for two years. The only outward evidence is the people busy, well dressed and well fed, the prosperous city shops filled with goods, and practically all managed by Germans.

Expensive jewelry and precious stones appear frequently, but are bought quickly by agents of the Dutch, German, and English diamond houses. While in these shops we saw a diplomatic courier sell two ten-carat stones, slightly yellow, for $2,210 to an American agent.

The Chicago Stride.

Contrary to the phlegmatic demeanor of the population in other border states, in the town of Narva the people are nervous and walk with the Chicago stride. The chief of police attributes this to the population's underlying fear that the Petrograd garrison will send an armored food gathering train in their direction.

Advertising

Continually Proves Itself!

1921—the worst sales period in all history—demonstrates conclusively that trade-marked products adequately advertised can be sold—will be bought—when bulk or unknown goods are dead. Jobbers whose men give identical effort to all lines certify this.

This year's experience is putting all salesmen and all distributors in a wholly new attitude toward advertising and what it will accomplish. Advertising, sanely applied, will henceforth have a broader place in trade.

For over 17 years we have co-operated with a remarkable group of enterprises in advertising and merchandising. Our seasoned experience makes our service peculiarly valuable, yet it is most reasonable in cost. We welcome inquiry from any intending advertiser.

Can your eyes see behind wood and steel and cardboard?

Were you to step into a Library Bureau showroom, you would see the efficient, well-made L. B. steel or wood cabinets. You could test the unusual strength of L. B. Index cards and the quality of L. B. Guides and folders.

But still you wouldn't see more than a tiny fraction of the 5,000 items that L. B. supplies. Here are just a few of the main classifications. You will at once recognize their efficiency. Each has been created by L. B., based on 45 years experience in over 125,000 offices.

- L. B.* Wood and steel filing cabinets, including L. B. counter-height units, whereby filing cabinets serve the added purpose of a counter.
- L. B.* Cards, vertical file folders and guides, including special forms for individual businesses and individual departments.
- L. B.* Sales records, which keep sales information at the sales manager's finger-tips.
- L. B.* Automatic Index, which makes it harder for the file clerk to make a mistake than to file correctly.
- L. B.* Double unit card record desks, which bring 16,000 to 24,000 cards within arms' reach of the seated clerks.

L. B. Equipment is the instrument of business efficiency. And it is the expert advice of L. B. salesmen, who are prepared to recommend systems and equipment for your particular needs, that will simplify your business problems.

U. S. NOW LOSING $60,000 A DAY ON TROOPS ON RHINE

Council Grants $2 Per Diem to Soldiers; Cost $6.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, Aug. 14.—The United States is losing $60,000 daily by keeping its troops on the Rhine.

The financial commission of the supreme council has agreed to allow the American soldiers the same rate of pay as is allowed the French—16 francs daily—plus 3 gold marks—75 cents—daily, totaling $2 at the present exchange rate.

British soldiers received 16 francs plus 2 gold marks.

Cost $90,000 a Day.
The American army of occupation comprises about 15,000 men, who thus are receiving approximately $30,000 daily. But—the army is costing $90,000 a day, according to figures submitted by Roland Boyden, American representative.

Gen. Allen and Col. Harvey expect the United States government to accept the financial commission's formula for payment of the army of occupation's expenses.

It has been decided that the league council is to meet in Paris Aug. 22 to examine the Upper Silesia situation.

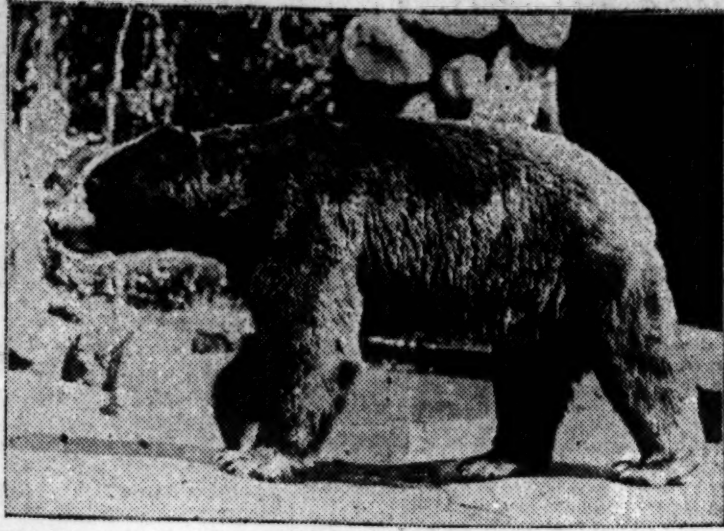

Poland Sends Warning.

The Polish government handed it a note today at the Quai d'Orsay demanding immediate action by the league council and warning of grave consequences if the action is delayed. It is rumored that Wito's government is doomed to fall in Warsaw through the belief that Poland will lose its industrial zone in the plebiscite region.

HIT BY STREET CAR; MAY DIE.

"HONEY, HOW I LOVES YOU"

WE HAVE for contemplation and consideration this blue Monday the brown bear, which holds the place in the category of plantigrade ursoid carnivore that the yellow dog has in the realm of canines.

So far as is known the young fellow pictured above possesses no name. But he is just as happy. In common with the grizzly and other aristocratic bears, he has a rudimentary tail and forty-two teeth and an omnivorous appetite.

He likes vegetable food, but if you ever want to make a real hit with him just give him a handful of honey. He'll commit a homicide or repeat at the polls or do most anything for a comb of bee product.

The brown bear is a native of Europe and Asia. He is also found along the southeastern coast of Alaska, where he attains considerable stature. The black bear of North America is regarded by some naturalists as a member of the same species.

Despite the fact that a dance was named after 'em, bears are not regarded as graceful. They amble along in a shuffling gait and climb trees in a slow, lumbering fashion. In northern countries they retire for the winter, after acquiring a big tummy on which to live while they sleep. They hide away in caves or hollow trees, let the snow cover them over, and go to sleep. Spring is the alarm clock which wakens them.

The young gent in our picture, however, prefers to stay awake during the cold months. He has found that a zoo attaché brings him a loaf of bread every day except Sunday, and he's afraid it will be too stale by the time he wakes up if he snoozes all winter. He's a wise guy, is this brown bear.

LASKER ASSAILS SOLVENCY OF STEAMSHIP LINE

Conspired to Wreck Us,
Colby Retorts.

New York, Aug. 14.—The United States shipping board recently selected nine passenger liners chartered by the United States Mail Steamship company because the board "knew that the company was insolvent."

This was an assertion made in a statement issued tonight by A. D. Lasker, chairman of the board. The statement, he said, would be filed in the courts tomorrow, in answer to proceedings which have been brought by the steamship company to regain possession of the vessels.

"Such insolvency," the statement continued, "threatened to pile up against the ships further large charges, besides those already contracted, which the new shipping board apprehended the government in the end would be forced to pay."

Brings Hot Retort.

The charge brought a sharp retort from Bainbridge Colby of counsel for the company.

"The story of his conspiring efforts to wreck the United States Mail, when he could not appropriate it for his friends, will be fully related in the courts," declared Mr. Colby. "I will say there what I have to say and it will throw some light on the attitude of the present shipping board towards our merchant marine."

"When I say the board I mean Mr. Lasker and his personal agents. I cannot believe that his course has the sanction of his responsible colleagues, such as Admiral Benson and ex-Senator Chamberlain, not to mention others whom I do not know. All of them have been strangely silent throughout the weird succession of events that has constituted the board's record in this matter, begun by a nocturnal raid and continued by the press, agenting of its chairman."

Lasker Makes Other Charges.
Other charges against the company were made by Mr. Lasker. These, in short, were that the company "could not command the resources which were essential to pay its debts, to run the vessels it had placed in service and to put additional ships in service."

It accused the Mayer interests, controlling the company, with organizing interlocking companies through which the shipping board had suffered "large losses."

It declared the steamship company stock—$1,000,000 of it—was "nothing but water and not a share was issued."

Mr. Lasker declared that through a "persistent campaign" the company had been able to watch the board pay "a $4,573,445 evaded obligations."

Mr. Lasker said that if the board is awarded possession of the ships by the court, it will call for bids from "responsible parties" to operate the vessels.

"The imperative duty of the board," the statement said, "is to keep the flag flying in the passenger service across the Atlantic ocean. It could not permit the colors to be hauled down, nor could it permit interruptions and embarrassment through creditors' proceedings, which inevitably would have produced intermissibility in and ultimately complete stoppage of sailings."

3 Bystanders Shot as N. Y. Gunman Attacks Victim

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—There have been eighteen feud murders within a few blocks of police headquarters in the last year, and Frank Marino, alias James Savarino, today is near being the nineteenth. He was shot twice through the chest and there are scant chances for his recovery. In the effort to kill Marino, the gunman shot down three innocent bystanders, one of whom, Mrs. Flora Siegel, may die.

BEGIN HEARINGS ON DUTY RATES OF TARIFF BILL

Expect to Hear 500 Men of Business.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—With the American valuation plan approved definitely as the basic policy of the new tariff bill, the senate finance committee will begin tomorrow the consideration of rates of duty as contained in the Fordney bill. Hearings will begin on chemicals. With upward of 400 manufacturers and importers desiring to be heard, the hearings are expected to continue for at least three weeks. It is possible that the bill may not become law until the regular session, which begins in December.

The question of a dye embargo may be disposed of tomorrow. Present indications are that the embargo is dead and that the finance committee will approve high rates of duty as a substitute.

An indication of some of the changes in duty rates in the bill which will be brought in by amendments already proposed by various senators, who are looking out for agricultural interests. More than a score of amendments have been introduced, most of them providing for increases in duties over the rates carried in the house bill.

Gooding Offers Amendments.

Senator Gooding, Idaho, has offered

PROFESSOR NAMED EASTERN EUROPE COMMERCE CHIEF

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Appointment of E. Dana Durand of Minnesota university to be chief of the eastern European division, bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, was announced by Secretary Hoover. Mr. Durand is a former director of the census bureau and former professor at Harvard university.

E. DANA DURAND.

a number of amendments designed to provide greater protection for sheep and cattle raisers. The wool growers insist that the duty of 25 cents per pound, clean content, on wool as contained in the bill is not ample and that too great an advantage is given manufacturers under the compensatory rates.

Senator Gooding has offered an amendment providing a duty of 33 cents per pound on wool imported. A graduated scale is provided under which different duties are assessed on wools of different shrinkages when imported in the grease or washed. Thirty different rates are provided.

Another amendment offered by Senator Gooding provides for a duty of 35 cents per pound plus 10 per cent ad valorem on wool. The Fordney bill imposes a duty of 16 2/3 cents per pound, plus 10 per cent ad valorem, if valued at not more than 40 cents per pound and 27 1/2 cents per pound if valued at more than that.

Hides Off Free List.

Senator Gooding also has presented an amendment taking cattle hides from the free list and imposing duties of 1 2/3 cents per pound, raw or uncurd, and 5 cents per pound, cured.

Senator Stanford has offered an amendment increasing the duty on hides from 24 to 32 cents per pound.

The last chance to defeat the American valuation plan seems to have passed. While the Democrats will oppose the proposition, scarcely any opposition has developed among Republicans in either house. The only argument against the plan which carried weight before the finance committee was the question of administrative difficulties. By providing fifty special treasury agents, who will begin at once to gather information relative to American values, Republican senators believe the customs service will be prepared to administer the law successfully.

DOUSE YOUR LIGHT, DIOGENES! HERE IS YOUR HONEST MAN

Boston, Mass., Aug. 14.—(Special.)

Ira Shapira, landlord, who controls 350 apartments in Boston, is back to pre-war rentals.

"Any landlord can do it," he said today. "They are robbers if they don't and deserve what they'll get. My agents yesterday told me they could rent some of my places for $50. I told them $40 was enough. Even then I will make a fair profit. I predict the landlord who does not cut his rentals will go down in a crash."

Herbert Ellis, chairman of the mayor's rent and housing commission, praised Shapira's action.

"Landlords are so unreasonable," he said. "They are a gang of money grabbers. But we will get them in the end."

ANTI-BOLSHEVIKI CAPTURE CHITA, SIBERIA RUMOR

VLADIVOSTOK, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Eastern Siberian republic, with headquarters at Chita, has been overthrown by anti-bolshevik forces, according to unconfirmed reports from foreign sources received here. These reports declared the military stores of the Chita government had been fired and the government had fled.

Under pressure of the anti-bolshevik who occupied Chita, the reports say, the bolshevik troops withdrew to the west in the direction of Verkhne-Udinsk with the intention of joining troops from Irkutsk. No official confirmation, however, has been received of the above reports.

Advices from Manchull say that foreigners there claim to have received confirmation of the overthrow of the Chita government.

ALDERMEN PLAN QUICK MOVE TO SAVE CITY'S CASH

Seek Temporary Writ Till Suit Is Settled.

Fearing that the city of Chicago has already disposed of a large amount of money illegally, attorneys representing three aldermen who Saturday filed suit in the Circuit court to prevent the spending of more than $5,250,000 without sanction of the city council, yesterday were preparing to go into court immediately and ask for a temporary injunction.

They are planning to push the matter to an immediate hearing, and tomorrow or Wednesday will make application in the Circuit court for the temporary injunction.

No Politics in Move.
"This suit is not a political move," said Attorney Lawrence A. Cohen, who, with Attorney Louis E. Hart, filed the suit in behalf of Ald. Schwartz, Woodhull, and Guernsey, members of the finance subcommittee which has been investigating payments to experts, "and we intend to push the matter. We greatly fear that a large amount of the money which we sought to halt the city from spending has already been disposed of and as a result we are going into court Tuesday or Wednesday and ask for a temporary injunction."

"If this injunction is granted it will prevent the city from spending any more money until the matter has been decided in court and that decision, we believe, will be a permanent injunction."

Basis of the Suit.
The suit filed Saturday seeks to enjoin the city controller, the city treasurer, and the city of Chicago from spending $5,250,000 without the sanction of the city council. Aroused by the exposure of the huge sums paid to experts last year the city council sought to supervise this year's expenditure, prohibiting the spending of any additional money without its specific order.

But the city administration, obeying several opinions from the corporation counsel's office holding that such a supervision by the city council is illegal, has ignored the order. Should the courts rule that the city council has no authority to supervise the expenditure of its own appropriations, the whole 1921 budget may be declared invalid, according to several leading lawyers.

PASTOR QUILTS TO THWART GREEK KING'S BISHOP

The resignation of the Rev. Leon Pigeon, pastor of the Greek church of St. Trinity at 1101 South Peoria street, and the consequent closing of that church, were the features yesterday of the battle for control of the Greek church in Chicago by Germanos Troianos, recently appointed bishop of America by King Constantine.

"The Rev. Mr. Pigeon resigned simply to avoid trouble—even possible bloodshed—at his church through the attendance of Troianos," said G. A. Kyriakopoulos, attorney for the church and the Association of the Greek Community in Chicago. "Judge Pam had given Troianos permission to attend the services as a member of the congregation. Father Pigeon knew if he came there would be trouble. So, in order to avoid it, he simply resigned and closed the church for the time being."

King Constantine's bishop came to Chicago a few days ago to establish a new regime. The Greek churches at once applied for injunctions temporarily restraining him. The court case will come up early in September.

DRIVE TO SWELL FREE ICE FUND ON THIS WEEK

July Hot Spell Nearly Drained Treasury.

BY REV. G. A. MACWHORTER.
Now that the Camp Algonquin fund has passed the half way mark in the drive for $10,000 to provide free outings for poor mothers and children of Chicago this summer, we must bend our energies to raise the free ice fund to an equal amount.

At last reports $4,600 had been contributed so far this summer, and the drive for July was expected to drain the fund's treasury.

Most of the contributors ask to have their gifts equally divided between the two funds, but Camp Algonquin has been a slight favorite over the free ice fund, and there is a difference of $400 between the two.

Ice for Those Who Stay.
Let us make up that difference so that those who do not have the opportunity for outings may at least have the consolation of a visit from the ice man during the days that they are obliged to stay at home.

Remember that opportunity is afforded to provide at the special price of $5 a ton the purest ice that can be bought in Chicago.

Have you bought your ton for a poor mother and her children who can not leave the city in August?

"County Fair" Advances Fund.

That "county fair" out at 74th and Paxton avenue has realized about $30 so far for the free ice fund and, in addition to the three lovely young girls whose smiling faces greet you, there are five other members of the group that have been working hard for the success of their "fair." They are: Helen and Allen Touzalin, Alice Hausler, Robert Wilson and Andrew Talbot.

Only three more weeks until the public schools will open, on the Tuesday after Labor day, and we hope that there will be many such "fairs" and "bazaars" and "lemonade stands" in the meantime, for we are depending upon the children to help us raise at least $10,000 for each fund this summer.

Win One of These Prizes

We Want a Slogan to Express the Industrial Use of Gas

WE wish to secure a single phrase or slogan which will summarize the advantages of gas for industrial purposes. Gas in industry is much more than a fuel. Gas is so dependable, economical and flexible for a wide variety of factory and shop uses that it becomes in a sense an improved process. The use of gas for a thousand different factory operations makes for increased efficiency, better product, more uniform production and all-around economy.

Can you devise a slogan which will tell this story in one brief, pithy phrase? To indicate the general character of what we wish to secure, we quote such phrases as "Gas, the 100% Fuel" or "Gas, an Efficient Tool for 1,000 Shop Uses." Do not pattern your slogan after these, or any slogans the Company has used. They merely indicate the general character of what we are seeking.

All slogans must be submitted by October 15, 1921. The judges for the competition are: Hon. Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board; W. Frank McClure, chairman, Advertising Council, Chicago Association of Commerce; W. H. Gaffis, editor, Gas Record.

We suggest it would be of decided assistance for you to be fully informed regarding gas and its scope for industrial use. Upon request we will gladly send you informative literature upon this subject.

ARTISTS OF THE NATION TRY FOR TRIBUNE PRIZE

Even Canadians Bid for Mural Award.

The Tribune's mural prize competition, involving for the winner an immediate honorarium of $5,000 and the assurance of two years' work in the execution of his designs, is stirring the imagination and imagination of artists throughout this country and Canada.

Robert B. Harshbarger, acting director of the Art Institute, writes:

"We are daily receiving letters relative to this Tribune mural prize from artists living in Canada, in Texas, and in other remote as well as in nearby parts of the continent."

$35,000 Man in Race.
I have also to report that yesterday the highest paid commercial artist in Chicago, a man receiving $35,000 a year, announced his intention of trying for the prize.

"I think the autumn opening of the institute's studios, when the year's work in the designs begins, will show a good crop of candidates."

The institute has cordially affiliated itself with the Tribune in the operation of the somewhat intricate machinery of the competition. It is in fact the intermediary between the painters and the Tribune. To it the Tribune requests inquiries relative to the competition be made. A sympathetic response is assured.

Magazine Discusses Offer.
The current number of Chicago Commerce, the journal of the Chicago Association of Commerce, takes this Tribune competition as the basis for an extensive article on the field of mural paintings in Chicago from the time of the World's Fair onward. The latest project to stimulate effort in this field is described as an "important artistic donation."

300 MEN GET

SHOPS REOPEN

The tide of industrial depression in the Calumet region was stayed yesterday with the announcement that 300 men will start work this morning in the recently closed repair shops of the Indiana Harbor Belt railway.

The shops have been leased to the United Boiler and Foundry company of Hammond. A week ago they were shut down, throwing 400 men out of employment, when the belt line found it under present conditions it could not do its work more cheaply in the shops.

MAY BRING OUT 'AMBROSE SMALL' IN PUBLIC TODAY

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 14.—The man of mystery, who Frank Harty, former assistant chief of police, claims is Ambrose Small, missing Toronto theater owner, may be brought from his place of hiding tomorrow, Harty said tonight. He says he is sure that the man he has had under surveillance for six months is the Toronto millionaire for whom a world wide search has been made since his disappearance in December, 1919.

Harty says he has been in communication with the Toronto authorities, and that some one will be here from the Canadian city either tomorrow or Tuesday to verify the identity of the man.

HAYS DECLINES 'CENSORSHIP' OF NEWSPAPERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Postmaster General Hays today addressed a statement to the newspaper publishers and editors of the United States concerning his action, in readmitting the New York Volks Zeitung to second class, or newspaper rate, mail privileges.

Mr. Hays says he will not allow himself to be made a censor of the press and he lays down the principle that any publication entitled to the use of the mails in any way is entitled to second class privileges, provided, of course, that it meets the ordinary requirements of the law as to second class matter.

No Word at Toronto.
Toronto, Aug. 14.—Local police authorities stated tonight they had received no word from Des Moines, Ia., that Ambrose Small, missing Toronto theater man, was there. Mrs. Small placed little credence in the report. She regards it as another of the many false reports she has been receiving since her husband vanished.

LOOK at the cast and after you've got through gasping over the array of famous names that greet your eye, let me tell you that everything about "The Affairs of Anatol" has just as much class. If ever there was a de luxe picture this is it. Where the money came from to produce it—ask me, ask me—and I can't tell you.

There isn't a moment's bad acting, unless, perhaps, you find, as I do, that Agnes Ayres is unconvincing. The staging is immense; the costumes—O, la, la!—the scenery something to dream about, and the photography, the quaintness of photographic art.

The picture was suggested by the play by Arthur Schnitzler. The story is of a young married man who yearns to help others—pretty and of the other gender—and gets badly stung. His wife, Miss Gloria Swanson, sleek and gorgeous, understands him better than he thinks she does, and, far from reaching out a marital right and dragging him home, puts a muffer on her impatience and jealousy and is rewarded as she should be.

Those about whom his affairs revolve are Wanda Hawley as a jazz baby, whom he used to go to school with, but who has changed—ah, how she's changed; Agnes Ayres, as a farmer's wife, whom he rescues from drowning and who steals his pocket-book to help her husband; and Bebe Daniels as the wickedest woman in New York—or supposedly the wickedest woman in New York—who borrows $2,000 from him, to pay the famous surgeon who operates on her husband—My husband, my sweetheart—he's full of shrapnel and now the war's over nobody remembers him but me!

Right there little Miss Daniels does some great acting.

With what is commonly known I believe as consummate art, the director keeps you on mental tiptoe for something scandalous that never happens. You just get a peek at the keyhole and the lights go out, as it were.

The subtitles are clever.

Rave on? I won't!

ASK ME! ASK ME!

A Child. Yes, and such a child! To think of leaving home and mother for a lot of folks who wouldn't give a hurrah for you! My dear, there are loads of children both in Hollywood and New York. Don't imagine for a moment that a director is ever at a loss to get a child just the age and type he wants. Bobbed heads and curly heads—he knows where they are and your "pretty baby face" is just one of a million pretty baby faces. Forget it and go on to school. So let me say in the sweet by and bye we'll talk it over again.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—We might as well arm ourselves for the worst. The long sleeve is upon us, and there is no gaining it. Only for evening wear shall we retain the sleeveless frock.

So far, indeed, the one salient novelty of our autumn frocks is based on sleeve differences. In both blouses and frocks we find four or five types developed along lines of the old-fashioned dogma that a sleeve should lead an active life.

One of these is the wide and square sleeve credited to Jenny, and accompanied by deep armholes. The second is the slashed sleeve, often reminiscent of the portraits of Holbein. The third is the bishop's sleeve, and the fourth is one which, narrow at the top, flares into a bell cuff that comes either all the way to the wrist—or almost there.

Until the autumn is upon us, however, we may revel in the miserly sleeve represented here through a gingham of checked lavender and white trimmed with bands of white organdy.

With him, too. No, Charles Chaplin has not been married again. They do say that the rumor of his engagement to May Collins has raised that young woman's salary from $250 to $750 a week.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in need may be brought forth. It may be that you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper. When information is wanted by mail, a stamped addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

"I wonder if some one has a suit for a boy 18 years old. He is medium sized. I am a widow and have been ill for the last year and my son is my only support, and his salary is small. I will be so grateful if he will get a suit as I don't see any way of his buying one. Mrs. M. D."

Any outgrown clothing sent to the widow's son will be greatly appreciated by her.

Not a Vegetable Dinner.

One evening I went into a fashionable restaurant, where the menus were printed entirely in French. I could not read French, and in order to cover up my ignorance I simply ordered one of the special groups listed on the menu, supposing it was one of the several complete dinners. The waiter, after some hesitation, smilingly took my order.

I was waiting calmly, and thinking how well I got by with the French, when, lo and behold, the waiter returned bearing a huge tray with lamb chops, chicken, and roast beef, halfhot steak, and veal loaf.

I had ordered the entire group of meats listed, and nothing else.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Prize Isn't Worth Chase.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 18 years of age and I am in love with a fellow. Lately he has been going out with another girl. In a case like that what should I do?" F. M. A.

I don't like to publicly recommend a campaign that will outwit the rival, but many nice young ladies have been known to successfully carry away the object of their heart's devotion by strategies and coups which would do credit to an army general. But my private opinion is that the prize isn't worth getting in the race for it when there are so many other nice and kind and eligible young bachelors on the market.

lie?" she asked, in a tone of awe.

"Why, of course I can."

"My," she said with a sigh. "You've been in this world a long time, haven't you?" L. R. W.

Dick was proud of his cat and her pretty kittens.

One day a woman called and he showed them to her. She admired them and remarked, "What a nice mother the old cat makes."

"Yes," said Dick. "Frisky has had three helpins of kittens."

Cabinet Families Dodge These Summer Days in Washington

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The secretary of war, Mr. Wood, is in New York to meet Mrs. Wood, who is returning today from Washington. The secretary will return to Washington the early part of the week, but it is unlikely that Mrs. Wood will accompany him, going instead to her farm in the White mountains.

The secretary of labor, Mr. Davis, is spending the week-end with Mrs. Davis at their summer home in Massachusetts, having left Friday for Chicago tomorrow he will make an address in Reading, Pa., and then will return to Washington.

Miss Elizabeth Hughes, youngest daughter of Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes, is visiting friends in Lake George.

Paul Mellon and Miss Anna Mellon, son and daughter of the secretary of the treasury, have gone to the secretary's nephew, Edward P. Mellon, and Miss Mellon at their summer home in Southampton for a week or ten before returning to Hot Springs, where they have Barton Lodge for the season.

Mrs. Delos A. Biddett is entertaining a house party at her summer home in Mackinac, Mich., for her daughter, Miss Maud Biddett, whose marriage to Capt. David St. P. Gaillard, U.S.A., will take place in the early autumn.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

E. R.: THE FOLLOWING LOTION is recommended for enlarged pores and for oiliness of the skin: Orange flower water, six ounces; tincture of benzoin, one-half ounce; witch hazel, one-half ounce. Mix the witch hazel and orange flower water, shake lightly and add to the tincture of benzoin. Apply night and morning with a piece of absorbent cotton. For mild cases of acne, one dram of boracic acid dissolved in four ounces of rosewater is helpful.

G. J.: YOU CAN TRAIN YOUR eyebrows by a few second's work every night—just brushing with a tiny brush and shaping them toward a slight arch in the center. The growth of hair between the eyes may be pulled out with tweezers—in which event they will turn—or permanently removed by electrolysis.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER. Once Was Enough

Leo Ditrichstein
Has Sparkling Role
as Old "King Toto"

IF the new theatrical season goes on as it is beginning, the tale should be more cheerful than that of the one that winked out a couple of months ago. A ray of light shone out on the stage of the Studebaker last night when Leo Ditrichstein appeared for the first performance in these parts of "Toto." It will continue to gleam as long as the public likes its refreshment.

"Toto" is an opus from the Parisian pens of Maurice Hennequin and Felix Duquesne, translated for American ears by Achmed Abdullah, who has made a good job of it. The tale relates the most recent adventures of Antoine de Tolois, nicknamed King Toto by a parcel of friends, who are best described as lively.

He is, in his own words, a bad husband but a decent father, and it is with his efforts to promote the happy marriage of his daughter against the wishes of an upright and disapproving mother, that the play is concerned. He is acted by Ditrichstein.

The play sparkles most merrily, and this is rather strange since the entire set of roles with the one exception of Ditrichstein's, is singularly humorless. Toto is a master of the stinging retort and the whiplash of wit. He has plenty of them. The others do not.

One sees, or thinks one does, Paris by night. The first act is unrolled in a chignon sung off stage, registering purple patches. Similarly at the beginning of the second one hears the doxology, registering the exact reverse. There are many characters etched in with a most skillful comic pen in spite of their own lack of humor; there are situations running all the way from a supper with the ballet to a modern Romeo climbing the balcony to forestal a legal doctrine modestly propounded in Latin. And it is all great fun.

You will like Ditrichstein as a gay, elderly butterfly with strong wings and a good digestion. You will like many of the others, two ladies of the country, a country lawyer and his nephew, Frances Underwood as Toto's wife, Lenore Phelps as his daughter. Above all, you will probably like the play.

Fiske O'Hara opened at the Olympic last night in "The Happy Cavalier." Review tomorrow.

To Wed Detroit Man
Alice Gentle as Fedora Adds to Notable Record

THE week end brought another high score to the credit of Alice Gentle when she appeared in the name part of "Fedora."

It was the first time that this opera by Umberto Giordano had been sung by the north shore company, and it ranks as an achievement, to a great extent, because of the gorgeously colored performance of Miss Gentle.

It was her best, and she generally gives good ones. She sang the soprano role with as much fluent ease and richness of tone as she customarily does her own mezzo ones. She acted—not operatic acting but the genuine kind. She had force and dignity—the two are compatible; she was sparing of the sawing gesture, she had expression, and she was a lovely picture.

Wherefore the rest of the cast was likewise moved to high efforts. There were many, Riccardo Strakosky, suave, well-mannered, good looking, went through the role of the diplomat like a resourceful gentleman. His song in the second act was one of the evening's pleasures. Morgan Kingston, beginning on perhaps an unduly low emotional level, worked up a perfectly good climax of his own.

Leon Rothler had a short scene as an aged Russian and made it stand out as though it were a big one. Philline Falso developed an excellent character sketch as a Polish pianist—male—and played a solo as brilliantly as plenty of pianists who do nothing else. Margery Maxwell romped through the cheery mazurka of the second act. Beatie Diggert, a soprano whose name has not hitherto come to notice, acted a credible boy with pathos and understanding.—E. C. M.

Three Score and Five Years of Bliss

GEORGE W. HOTCHKISS, 90 years old, with flourishing gray locks and spry physique, and Mrs. Hotchkiss, two years his junior, celebrated their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home, 1015 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, yesterday.

He gave a recipe to near bald heads: Wash the hair daily in cold water no matter what the temperature is—and the hair will stay at least 100 years.

She offered this advice to brides who would always be youthful: Exercise fifteen minutes every morning and then bathe.

He said: "Young man, beware of a nagging wife. Mrs. Hotchkiss and I never had an argument."

She said: "Get a man of good habits, be sure you love him, and you will never have a nagging wife."

Mr. Hotchkiss has three distinctions. First, he is among the last of the Forty-niners. Second, he is the oldest living lumberman. Third, he is the man who first published a lumber journal. He still writes for publication.

Mr. Hotchkiss is secretary emeritus of the Illinois Lumber and Material Dealers association.

When 17 years old he started around Cape Horn for California. He took 154 days to make the journey. He signed the petition for the admission of California to the Union.

Showing Autumn Modes

TOTALLY different lines, new materials, and various unusual trimmings prove very fascinating in new Frocks and Suits. Additions are being made daily to our large collections. The piquette frock on the left emphasizes the new long waistline. Trimmed handsomely with jade, garnet and sapphire nailheads, $145. The suit in the center is very trim of unfinished worsted velvet, with slynx collar, $67.50. On the right is a long coated duvetyn tailleur, $165.

Costume Rooms, Sixth Floor, South.

Women's Suits, Sixth Floor, South, State.

Femina Frocks

IF it is a Femina Frock it is certain to be the inspiration of an artist, one who is thoroughly familiar with the most recent style developments here and abroad. The new Femina Frocks are distinguished by their charming simplicity of line and distinctive touches of trimming. The service of Femina Frocks, originated to meet the demand for a custom made Frock which could be finished in a short time, is available now to matron and debutante. Custom made Coats, Suits and Frocks, and model costumes are greatly reduced for immediate clearance.

Women's and Misses Custom Apparel, Ninth Floor, South, State.

Caroline Starts to Kindergarten This Fall. STARTING to kindergarten is a great event. And to mark this event Miss Caroline is to have a Kindergarten Party, with special invitations written on little bits of slates, and with special kindergarten favors for every one. Mother's going to buy them on our Fourth Floor.

See our Party Expert's "Shower Table" for boys and girls going away to school. Lots of suggestions.—Fourth Floor, North, Wabash.

Fall Corsets Arriving Daily

YOUR new Fall wardrobe really begins with the Corset, since it is the Corset that often determines the fit of the costume. Two very good models for average figures are sketched. The Corset illustrated at the right has a very low top, medium length skirt, and an elastic section in front at waist line. It is made of pink silk broche material, generously boned, $8.50.

The Corset at left is good style for the tall average figure. Of pink mercerized broche, $10. Same model in pink silk broche, handsomely trimmed, $25.

Corsets, Fifth Floor, South, Wabash.

Boys and Girls Dress Similarly

THIS is the dominant fashion note this Fall when it comes to outfitting little boys and girls. The wee lad and lassie in the sketch above have on cunning little red velvet coats with fur tipped collars. The Coats are just alike, except that brother's is more mannish in its cut and sister's has a bit more trimming. Same is true of the Hats.

BROTHER AND SISTER COATS for fall and winter, ranging in sizes for ages two to six are to be had from $11.50 each, up. Those sketched are $32.50 each.

PRETTY as well as warm. All Wool Double Baby Blankets, ribbon bound, $7.50, $8.95. Cotton Baby Blankets with Teddy Bears, and Kitten figures, $1.25, $2.25, $2.95.

Infants' Room, Fourth Floor, North, State.

Blue Rose Preparations

THIS is a most auspicious time to satisfy your toilet needs. Reductions on Blue Rose Preparations are quite radical. Consider that Blue Rose is the epitome of all that is distinctive and desirable in toilet preparations—second to none—concealing and yet half revealing the rarest of scents in very attractive containers. Are your particular needs listed below?

Blue Rose Talcum, 35c.
Blue Rose Face Powder, the box, $1.
Blue Rose Toilet Soap, the cake, 35c.
Blue Rose Toilet Water, four ounces, $2.75.
Blue Rose Bulk Perfume, ounce, $2.50.

Our August Sale of Furs Continues to Offer Most Unusual Values in

Fur Coats and Wraps of Distinction

LUXURIOUS Fur Coats such as you have never seen are the fancy of Fashion for the new season. Their Fur, of course, is indescribably lovely and their lines are smart and infinitely becoming. The sketch shows how effective is the combination of Furs in handsome Wraps. Even the newest and most desirable Fur Coats and Wraps show very interesting reductions during our August Sale.

Sixth Floor, North, Wabash.

The New Broadtail Slippers

Included in August Sale of Shoes

THE latest suggestion from Paris in fashionable Footwear, modish, smart, and dainty, finds a place in our semiannual Sale. The reductions that are in force in all our Sections, both in the Main Store and in The Store—for Men, apply likewise to these most recent examples of the shoe-maker's art.

The inclusiveness of this event, covering, as it does, Shoes for the entire family and for every occasion, is one of the most significant features of this Sale.

All Regular and Special Lines Reduced.

Fourth Floor, South, State.

There is not a pair of Shoes included that has not had to pass the searching tests of men versed in all that pertains to the production of trustworthy Footwear. And in those cases where the finer elements of style form an important consideration, our patrons may rely on the good taste of this organization, whether in the selection of choice materials or in the matter of exclusive designs, yet even here we stress the fundamental need of lasting wear.
